VOL 1. APRIL

Welcome to the Alumni Newsletter!

I am very delighted to present the alumni newsletter to those who have participated in the KOICA-KUGSIS scholarship program. I believe this program has been cultivating human resources contributing to the socio-economic and political development of developing countries. It has been successfully carried out by KOICA and KUGSIS since 2007 with the promising 198 graduates from 44 countries. For the last two years, KUGSIS has made substantial progress in moving the scholarship program further. Most of all, Alumni Reunion was held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia in October 4 -6th, 2016. Our 14 alumni from 10 African countries traveled to Addis Ababa to celebrate the Reunion, and they participated in a variety of events, including alumni workshop, tours around the city, and a wide range of faculty lectures. In addition, professors of KUGSIS and State University of New York (SUNY) provided a consulting session for a development project proposed by the Tanzanian alumni. This project aims to establish a leather industrial cluster at Dodoma region in Tanzania. Finally, KUGSIS has been selected to implement the KOICA-KUGSIS scholarship in the field of Finance and Tax Policy. This program is being well proceeded since it was begun in September 2017. We hope to organize and share interesting and meaningful events with you. In this vein, I sincerely ask you to actively engage with your alma mater. I would love to hear crispy suggestions from all of you.

FOLLOW-UP PROGRAM ON KOICA-KU MASTERS' DEGREE PROGRAM IN ECONOMIC POLICY DEVELOPMENT: ADDIS ABABA 2016

Early October 2016, I found myself on a long haul flight aboard Ethiopian Airlines from Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia for a very exciting re-union of some sort event. The event was the Follow-Up Program on KOICA-KU Masters' Degree Program in Economic Policy Development (Africa). It was held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia from 3-8 October 2016. The Follow Up Program was organised as a way of finding out the effectiveness of the sponsorship programs of KOICA and KU.

The Follow-Up Program was attended by fifteen African participants drawn from the pioneer group of 2007 through to 2015. I studied at Korea University as the 2nd group, 2008-2009. It was a good time meeting with other KOICA scholarship beneficiaries, especially from KU. I personally knew three of the participants, 2 from Tanzania and 1 from Kenya from our time in Korea. I was also selected as one of the three Alumni speakers during the event. The other two were from Cameroon and Egypt. The Program comprised of presentations from KU Faculty and invited resource persons as well as site visits in Addis Ababa. Presenters dwelt on a number of areas and some of the topics that I found beneficial among others were:

- The future of development assistance vis-vis the African Agenda 2063;
- The independence of Official Development Assistance (ODA) in the presence of high politics;
- Trade and development;
- Human Rights issues and development;
- Sustainability of ODA in turbulent global economies;
- Conducting baseline surveys;
- Urbanisation, Migration and Development with Korea as a case study; and
- Governance and Development.

The Organisers also arranged visits to the Economic Commission for Africa (ECA) where the participants were addressed by one of the Directors Dr. Jimmy Ocitti. It was quite an informative and insightful discussion where participants were afforded an opportunity to deliberate on Africa economic development, an issue that is so dear to many countries with practitioners on the ground. ECA outlined a number of programs and assistance that are being implemented and offered in various countries. The group left the session with renewed optimism on Africa.

The Follow-Up Program also offered an opportunity to network with other KU Alumni. I also recall the Alumni having lively and passionate debates on subjects that included among others Leadership, Development, Human Rights, Education as well as Conflicts in Africa. It was refreshing to note that the whole bunch of us exhibited strong love towards the Motherland, Africa, and yearned that a different story be told.

Some of the takeaways from these debates were that Africa needed to take responsibility of charting her own destiny; that it was high time Africans tell our story rather than wait for the outside world to portray what they think; that there were a lot of positives developments in a number of countries; that Africans need to build networks as building blocks for development and that African diversity should not be viewed as a source of conflict but rather, should be a used as a source of dynamism for development.

On a social level, it was also encouraging to note that a number of KOICA-KU beneficiaries had moved up the ladder in terms of career progression. Interestingly, quite a sizeable number have joined the diplomatic arena of their respective countries.

At the end of the Program, as an assessment, the participants were given a group assignment to draft a Project Proposal for possible consideration by KOICA. The interesting dimension to the group set up was mixing up people from different countries. I was put in a group of 3 with participants from Kenya. It really tested the ability to cooperate and coordinate across space drafting this project. In the end it was a happy ending as our proposal of TVET Institution was deemed to be one of the best drafted.

I would like to commend KOICA and KU for organising the Follow-Up Program. I think it is a very noble undertaking that needs to be regularly done. Besides tracking the progress of their beneficiaries, it creates a strong network of the Alumni.

OUR EXPERIENCE IN PARTICIPATING IN A FOLLOW-UP PROGRAM ON KOICA-KU MASTER'S DEGREE PROGRAM IN ETHIOPIA

In October 2016, Tanzania alumni students (Alexander Costantine, Ombeni Mwash, Peter Enos and Frank Mwega) were invited to attend a follow-up program on KOICA-KU Master's Degree Program in Economic Policy and Development (Africa). The program was conducted in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia for 6 days, from 3 to 8 October 2016. The program was organized by Korea University in collaboration with KOICA and was attended by 16 alumni students from Kenya, Zimbabwe, Ghana, Rwanda, Egypt, Cameroon, Algeria, Tunisia, Ethiopia and Tanzania. The purpose of the program was to train the alumni students on key issues of international development and cooperation, discover African development projects that can be implemented by KOICA and GSIS in the future and investigate the effectiveness of scholarship program in achieving high level human resources.

The training was conducted by Korea University professors and other invited guest speakers. Given their experience and professional expertise on key issues on international development and cooperation, the knowledge we acquired was enormous despite the limited time. It was through the program we were able to come up with a proposal on Leather Industrial Park/Cluster Project in Dodoma region in Tanzania. The proposal was reviewed and accepted by professors, and it will be presented to KOICA for funding. Accordingly, we were awarded some money for our initiatives and two professors, Cuz Potter and Lee Jing sang visited Tanzania to assess the feasibility of the project. They had meeting with top government officials from the Ministry of Trade, Industries and Investment to discuss about the project. Their suggestions and recommendations about the project were crucial and we incorporated them to the proposal. Our government on the other hand, assured them of its determination to support the project. We hope that the project will be implemented soon and we are happy that we are the source of this mega project and our names will be written in the history of our country. We thank, Korea University and KOICA for organizing this program and for giving us this opportunity.

Indeed, the KOICA/KU Master's Program has been very successful in creating high level human resources. According to the evaluation result presented during the program and discussion we had with other alumni students, much has been realized. Most alumni students are progressing well toward holding higher position, some have enormous contribution in policy decision and knowledge sharing in their respective countries. We are very thankful to KOICA and Korea University not only for the Master's program but also for organizing the follow-up program. It was an important avenue for networking after bringing the alumni students together. Also, an avenue for some of us to meet again and share experiences after graduation.

VOL 1. APRIL

Hello, fellow Alumni, I hope you are all doing great. Its Rejoice here and welcome to my short story and I hope you enjoy it. Let me tell you this, my experience in Korea can simply be described as “home away from home”. I had a second family, just check it out here, wow. I had lots of work to do, lots of stressful moments, and lots of FUN too! Let me unpack my story to you now...

My first time at the airport, I thank my LORD GOD for the guidance, just told me what Korea is about, order and development. Starting off at KOICA –International Co-operation Centre, the orientation prepared me for what was coming ahead. The short stay at ICC was truly amazing, visiting the palaces and tasting Korean food for the first time. Let me be honest, the food tasted so different from what I was used too, but up to today, I cannot get over the taste of bibimpap, kimbop and green tea latte, ooh scrumptious.

We then checked in at Korea University, and the days of nothing but fun were immediately over as our classes began with so much reading within the first week. I had so much work and some professors made sure that there is homework each and every day and had to pull so many all-nighters. Let me put in here a big BUT, there is so much that I leant during my 16 months of studying. The professors are so knowledgeable and professional. The biggest lesson for me was the development experience of Korea, taught during classes and the various study tours organized by the KOICA-KU team. It is one lesson I think about that Zimbabwe can take a leaf from and change the country’s fortune into something meaningful and beneficial to millions of Zimbabweans. Of course lots of research, commitment and discipline goes into achieving growth and development.

Let me check out at this note and add that the cold weather wasn't part of the fun, I literally stayed indoors. After all, we all sweated, celebrated and graduated in style. I need a full day to tell you all about it but my time was nothing short of AMAZING.

Rejoice Rumbidzai Musakaruka / Ministry of Finance & Economic Development / Zimbabwe

My unforgettable journey in Korea

After 16 months of living in Korea, I can tell that I took the best decision ever. Participating in KOICA-KU program didn't just open up my horizons with higher level of education, it did change my life.

I feel different in many ways, having the opportunity to audit the lectures of cluster of internationally well-known professors and working closely with some of them took me to higher level of professionalism. Also, participating in KOICA-KU program gives me the chance to meet new friends that become as closer as my family.

In fact, with my new friends, I did enjoy many wonderful activities. Skiing in the Jisan ski resort was one of my unique experience in Korea. Coming from a country that doesn't experience such heavy snow, I did enjoy my first steps in the world of skiing. Such an unforgettable memories, hopefully after an uncountable trial I succeeded to go down the mountain.

Every spring, Korean enjoy a unique Asian phenomena, exceptionally last year I was able to experience the first signs of spring with a wonderful nature with my new international family. Going to Han river park brings smile to my face even now, so white flower so pure nature can bring tears to your eyes.

As I am so into sportive activities, participating in the KU GSIS – YONSEI GSIS competition, I enjoyed playing volley ball with my GSIS classmates and encouraging them while playing basketball, football and rally.

I also didn't miss the opportunity to practice some martial arts, playing Taekwondo, the Korean pride, was always one of my dearest dream, thankfully due to my stay in Korean and the help of my Korean friend, I could reach a respectful level. Going home with brown belt, I am definitely going for the black as soon as possible.

Studying and trying to get the best marks didn't deprive me from travelling through Korea, such a nice and beautiful peninsula. My best memories were in Jeju island. I loved each and every corner of that small piece of heaven. My stay there will enlighten my memories for ever.

Finally as KOICA-KU alumni, I deeply want to thank the Korean government, Tunisian government, KOICA representatives and Korea University for giving me the opportunity to not only enlarge my horizons and multiply my skills but also to rediscover myself. The new myself is eager to learn, to go for new adventures, hardworking and healthy person.

My journey in Korea

Upon receiving the scholarship to study in Seoul, South Korea, I knew it was an opportunity that I needed to take. South Korea is a vibrant country with a lot of history. Exploring South Korea's large and bustling cities or the country's lush coastlands and countryside, I got to really enjoy the variety of interesting sights and elegant views.

Studying at the Korea University, which is one of the most prestigious institutions in South Korea, was a privilege for me. The lectures were all highly knowledgeable in their fields and I got to learn a lot from them and the standard of lectures provided was of really high quality.

One of the memories that I will always cherish is of the good friends I made while studying at the University. I met people with different nationalities and cultures and I got to learn a lot from them. Undertaking the master's program has provided me with theoretical understanding, an in depth idea of practical approaches and research skills which I know will aid me in making managerial decisions in the future. Lastly I would like to thank the South Korea Government and KOICA for providing me with an opportunity to successfully complete my Master's Program in International Commerce from Korea University. Without this scholarship, my dream of studying in South Korea would not have become a reality.

Bolbbalgan4, Autumn, and KU

I was surprised when I got a call that I passed to join the KOICA Scholarship Master Degree Program in one of the best universities in South Korea, Korea University. One of my bucket-lists was checked! The school-life in the Tiger Camp was really enjoyable and full of excitement. There are so many things on a campus that cannot be found in my country. The excellent education system, open-minded, smart and reliable professors, kind and helpful staffs, a beautiful campus environment and also wonderful facilities that are provided for all students.

the Bolbbalgan4's songs repeatedly.

It was in autumn season when I already felt at home in the Anam Dormitory Campus with so much struggling with the food, the language and the distance of relationship. As a Muslim, living in Seoul is not too easy to get halal food with regular tag prices and easy to be accessed. So, mostly I ordered 짬뽕라면 (Jjam-bbong noddle) in the restaurant around the campus. Korean food typically like other Asian cuisines that served with a hot and spicy taste similar to Indonesian food, so I can still enjoy it. I realized that the school life is not the same as the working life. The autumn, my fav season, had passed in a blink of an eye with my very first final examinations in KU. However, it was very grateful that Seoul has so many attractive places even in every corner of South Korea, so I could release the stress and boredom by visiting the sites. I usually spent my evening time till night for studying and preparing the final exam in café. With the 우주를 즐겨 (Let The Universe) as background music in the café, I can feel the cozy and smooth atmosphere. Fortunately, I have other track songs of 볼빨간사춘기 (Bolbbalgan4) in my smartphone. From that time, I always played

Getting scholarship at Korea University is a good opportunity to improve knowledge. This campus has so many professors with excellent international trade knowledge and great experience that are ready to be shared with the students. Also, we can meet and make friends with other students from various countries. Until now, I still feel grateful. Time has come. Now, I am back to my institution and serve people in my country again. The knowledge and experiences are ready to be implemented and shared. Whenever I miss KU, Korea, autumn, my friends in Korea, KOICA fellows, and Jjampong Ramyeon, I will listen to the Bolbbalgan4's songs while scrolling pictures list that has been taken in Korea.

Korea, I always miss you.

Reflections on my time in Korea

Korea gave me an experience of a life time and also a glimpse of the future (the Fourth Industrial Revolution), Korea University gave me the love of books, my best academic period ever and KOICA played an important part of making Korea and Korea University an experience worth it.

Studies in Korea University

Before arriving in KU I was told, the only difference the school (KU) had with Harvard University was just the name. With my experience, I strongly believe it was not just a myth but the truth. Korea University made me realize the mind's horizon was vast and could achieve whatever it desired.

The Professors were on point, the reading materials and books were apt for the changing world we find ourselves, academic infrastructure and logistics, impeccable. My course mates had good stories pertaining to their various countries and offered me the opportunity to know the globe at one place (Classroom). With the mentor I had in my supervisor, Professor Kim Jung Ho, I left Korea University not just with a certificate but a better understanding of the changing world and finding solutions to problems faced by humanity.

Social Life in Korea

Without a doubt Korea is one of the best destinations for holiday lovers, it has the very best of everything, from entertainment to shopping. My fondest memories of Korea is sharing meals with friends and shopping on the streets of Myeong – Dong. I made some good friends from different parts of the globe who also shared their experiences with me. The streets of Myeong Dong was one of my favorites, I just loved the ambience and the view of shoppers who were mostly millennial. I got to see the latest trends in fashion at Myeong Dong. It was a beautiful place and would recommend it any day. I also enjoyed the historical game battles between Korea University and Yonsei University, they were great to watch.

I will forever be grateful to the Government and the people of Korea for such a life changing experience. The development of Korea is not only seen in her economic growth but Korea's ability to help developing countries to also rise and Africa appreciates her partnership.

My Journey to Korea and Experience in KU

Winning KOICA scholarship was one of the greatest news to have reached me in 2016. Traveling to Korea and schooling in KU was something I could not believe was going to happen to me in the next few months. There was however a mixed feeling since it was the first time to leave my family and friends for such a long period. I had so many expectations about South Korea and the Korea University since I had read a lot about both the country and the University.

I arrived in Korea in the company of a colleague also from Ghana on the 19th of August 2016 after enjoying a Business flight from Dubai to Korea. The nice hospitality and the warm welcome we received from the staff of KOICA at the Incheon International Airport made me felt at home. Between the Incheon International Airport to KOICA ICC, I observed so many fascinating things on the way which really amazed me. I had another opportunity to join other colleagues from other developing countries at the ICC on a city tour to some amusement and monumental sites in the city and I came to the realization that there a lot of positive things I could carry away from Korea.

I could however not wait to get to the beautiful and prestigious Korea University campus after spending few days at the KOICA ICC because I was so eager to learn from the best practices and experiences of Korea as well from other nationals, and from what has brought them that far. Little did I know that the University also has so much in store for us to learn from. In addition to usual lectures from experienced professors, the University as part of the program also organized field trips, public lectures, seminars and many more. All these were meant to equip participants with relevant skills and expertise needed to transform our respective countries. I recount our field trip to Hyundai Automobile Company, where we learnt a lot from Korea's humble industrial development and how far they have developed into three strong subsidiaries. We also visited the Busan Port and again vital lessons were learnt from there which I believe my country could benefit from.

The last fond memory I still have about Korea which I can hardly forget was the parting night party at KU after our graduation ceremony on the 15th of December 2017. I had a mixed feeling once again because on one breath I was happy to come home after a long break and on the other breath it was sad to say good bye to some colleagues having being together for a long while. In all, life in Korea has been an eye opener to me and one of the greatest experiences I have had in life and I must admit that Korea is now my second home.

My Life in Korea

18 August 2016 was the date I left my beloved family and country, a day forward safe and sound brought me to Korea. This time was different from the previous time because I had to start my long journey. During my 16-month study in Korea, it was amazing way which was not really easy but worth to be walked, to be run, and to be followed. I have gained many fantastic things beside academic life in which included social, cultural and traditional sharing from the 15 various developing countries. Additionally, it was a bit unfamiliar between working in financial sector and studying in real sector, it was tough for me but I could recognize that it was another advantage to understand another sector that was why it pushed me to know about how the countries do the trade each other and importantly the strong commitment of me treated me the favorable results I never ever expected before.

I'm proud of being an international student at Korea University in which amongst of SKY under KOICA Scholarship program. Both institutions provided me a wonderful life with new skills, experiences and knowledge to help my country and contribute to my people around me such as colleagues, friends, relatives etc to improve their quality of lives with the theories and practice of international commerce complied with the principles of WTO in which the trade is being done between two or more countries or by one association. For instance, Cambodia has free trade agreement (FTA) with other countries such as Korea, Japan and others through ASEAN. Beyond the outstanding academic orientation, I have the opportunity to meet excellent professors, classmates and wonderful people at KU. Professors are highly helpful and kindly understanding; I sincerely appreciated not only professors but also TA, Program Coordinator to whom I was keeping contact regardless the long physical distance and time. My heart was felt when my leaving from Korea, I miss my time, friends, school, food especially Kimchi Jigae ☺ at the grandfather's restaurant near KUMC. I do acknowledge the learning, values and skills obtained during my master program in Korea University and the nice smile of warm heart and kindness of Korean people.

My Experience in South Korea during KOICA-KU Master Program

The KOICA –KU masters programme came as a big opportunity for me to experience international training in one of the countries that has rapidly industrialized. The Korean model of economic growth has always been used as a benchmark for Economic development in my country. Right away from the airport when we were received as KOICA trainees with my colleagues from other countries, I felt at home by the warm reception we received and taken to the KOICA Centre where we were inducted before we were taken to Korea university to start our training in masters of arts degree programme in economic policy and development for 16 months.

The teaching and learning facilities were awesome with very friendly professors and other international students. This provided a relaxing environment for academic learning with well-equipped libraries and reading rooms. The existence of a good transport network facilitated ease of movement from one town to another making it easy to reach markets and other shopping areas where I met and interacted with other international Nationalities.

KOICA provided us with another life experience in Korea apart from the normal academic work. We had special lectures organized on various topics especially those relevant to our careers and development of our countries. Furthermore, we had an opportunity to visit BUSAN city in December 2016 and learnt more especially about the Busan port expansion plans and how it is connected to the rest of the world. A tour of the Hyundai motor company and the ship building industry gave us a more understanding on some of the major economic activities in the manufacturing sector of South Korea.

Visiting various government offices and the garden roof was more refreshing as a tourism attraction site and also offered us an opportunity to learn more about how the Korean government is structured and the mode of service delivery. The completion of the course and the farewell party on Friday 14th December 2017 was the climax of it all. I will always remember this day when Prof. Kang called up my name, leading me to shake the Deans hand and other professors as they congratulated me for my achievement. It was a world of learning for the 16 months in Seoul, South Korea.
