

Learners of Korean Wanted

Hi! My name is Jae Hyun from Indiana University, Bloomington. I'm conducting a small pilot study on language acquisition for second language learners whose mother tongue is English and who learned Korean as a second (third/fourth...) language. The proficiency level should be intermediate to advanced (e.g. 2xx level above).

The task is simple and easy (Online, Qualtrics link).

- 1) You'll read a short text in English (2 to 5 lines).
- 2) You'll read a statement in Korean (1 line).
- 3) You'll be asked to choose whether you think the statement is true or false.

There are 32 statements in total and participation usually takes less than 30 minutes.

After completing the task, $5 or ₩5,000 will be provided as compensation ($5: Venmo, Zelle available OR ₩5,000: Korean bank transaction, Korean gift cards through Kakaotalk available). There are no known risks involved in this study.

If you're interested in this study, please let me know (jhahn17@iu.edu). I'll email you a Qualtrics link. ☺
